FOR TODD HARTLEY · FROM MIKE HUBER

Three quick asks for the new book

Thanks for taking a look, Todd. This pack is short on purpose.

1. A real-world example or two for our video chapter. We drafted them from your public bio, so you don't start from scratch. Fix anything that's wrong. (Page 3)
2. A short endorsement for the book. We drafted three. Pick one, change it, or write your own. (Page 4)
3. Your OK to name you, and Tony Robbins' team, in the book.

The easiest ways to answer

- Reply "approved" to the email, or mark up these pages.
- Send Mike a voice memo. We'll write it up and send it back for your OK.
- Or grab 15 minutes with Mike by phone.

There's also an audio version of this pack, if you'd rather listen.

Nothing goes in the book until you approve it, word for word.

One more question: would you like Clarity.video listed in the chapter's tools, next to Loom and Vidyard? If yes, we'd note that you founded it.

THE VIDEO CHAPTER, ON ONE PAGE

What Chapter 11 covers

Business Transformation Through AI-Powered Marketing is the second edition of our 2023 book. It's a field guide for small businesses and marketing teams: read it, fill in the pages, then use AI to turn the answers into a plan.

The video chapter covers:

- Why video: it's the easiest content to consume, and it builds trust fast.
- Video for every stage: which videos fit awareness, consideration, decision, retention and advocacy.
- Producing video: storyboards, b-roll, who goes on camera, and where AI helps.
- Getting video found: titles, descriptions, chapters, and showing up in AI answers.
- Measuring video: the numbers that matter, and a video plan.

Where you come in

The chapter covers marketing video well. It's thin on video inside the sales process: short personal videos before a meeting, after a call, or walking a buyer through a proposal. That's your expertise.

So we drafted a short new section, "Video That Speeds Up the Sale," built around your examples. It's on the next page.

DRAFT NEW SECTION · FOR YOU TO FIX OR APPROVE

Video That Speeds Up the Sale

DRAFT · OUR WORDS

Most marketing video is made for many people. Sales video is made for one. A short, personal video can introduce you before a first meeting, recap a call in two minutes, or walk a buyer through a proposal they'd otherwise skim. Buyers can watch it when they're ready and share it with the people who sign off.

Keep each one short, use the buyer's name and their words, and end with one clear next step.

DRAFT EXAMPLE 1 · TONY ROBBINS' SALES TEAMS

When the pandemic stopped live events, Tony Robbins' organization had to sell a new way. They brought in Todd Hartley, CEO of WireBuzz, to rebuild how their sales teams used video.

Todd: what did the teams start doing? For example, personal videos before and after calls.

Todd: what result can we publish? For example, close rate, revenue or sales cycle, and over what time.

Todd: OK to name Tony Robbins' team? Do they need to approve it?

DRAFT EXAMPLE 2 · A SMALLER BUSINESS

A type of business was losing deals to ghosting, no-shows or slow decisions. Todd's team helped them what changed. Over time, they result.

Todd: your speaker bio mentions a client that closed $46 million in deals over 24 months. Can we use that one? How should we describe the client?

DRAFT ENDORSEMENT · PICK ONE, CHANGE IT, OR WRITE YOUR OWN

Your "fist bump" for the book

Option A. "Most businesses still treat video like a billboard. This book shows you how to make it your best salesperson, and how AI makes the whole plan faster to build. Do the exercises. Your sales cycle will thank you."

Option B. "This isn't a book you read. It's a book you build. Mike Huber is one of the smartest digital marketers I know, and this field guide hands you his playbook, with AI doing the heavy lifting."

Option C. "If you want buyers to trust you faster, start here."

How your name would appear

Todd Hartley, CEO of WireBuzz, author of Accelerating YES, and sales strategist to Tony Robbins' teams

Todd: change any of this. Is "sales strategist to Tony Robbins' teams" the right way to say it?

Endorsements must be your honest opinion, so please change any word that doesn't sound like you.